DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because is an exact copy of independent claims 1 and 5. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1 and 4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yajima (US Patent 4465959).

Claims 1, 5, and 6, Yajima teaches a step motor drive control method and apparatus for permanent magnet motors comprising a three-phase inverter 25 and a control circuit for operating said motor including a means 53 for counting a first period of time during which the motor moves from first position to a second position and counting a second period during which the motor moves from said second position to a next position.

---

Claim 2, Yajima describes in column 4 lines 25-30 that counter 53 is cleared every time a starting pulse is received.

Claim 3, Yajima describes in column 4 lines 50-68 and column 5 lines 1-2 that the position of the motor is adjusted when due to vibration the motor moves.

Claims 4 and 7, Yajima describes that the motor can be turned of at various instances.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Regarding claims 4 and 7, the phrase "may be" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Art Unit: 2837

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The documents cited teach different methods and apparatuses for controlling the position of electrical motors.
